

COVID-19 Letter to Our Patients

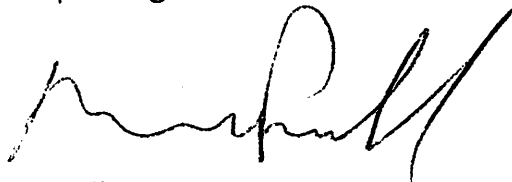

With news reports about the coronavirus (COVID-19) changing daily, it's understandable to feel concerned and even a bit anxious. I want to assure you that Pullen Comprehensive Dentistry is prepared to keep you safe should the virus come to the communities we serve.

We have been monitoring this evolving global health issue closely; conferring with the local and state health departments, as well as with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention; and holding regular meetings focused on our emergency preparedness protocols. We have the supplies, staffing and space identified to serve patients who may need us and to prevent the spread of COVID-19 while continuing to provide the exceptional care you've come to expect.

Together, we can reduce the risk of exposure to the virus and help you and your family remain healthy and safe. One of the best ways to protect yourself is to wash your hands frequently using soap and water. Also, you should avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth with unwashed hands.

The symptoms of COVID-19 are similar to other respiratory illness like the flu. These include fever, cough and shortness of breath.

Please be assured that Pullen Comprehensive Dentistry will continue to be here to serve our patients in need Monday – Thursday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.. It is a true privilege and honor to care for our communities.
